Injury at Bootleg Canyon

On Tuesday, March 10 at 12:14 p.m., the Boulder City Fire Department was dispatched to a report of a man injured on Bootleg Canyon near the top of the mountain. Fire crews responded to the incident and evaluated the situation. A man injured his leg while riding the Bootleg Canyon Flightline.

Firefighters were able to hike to the victim's location, but could not hike back down with him due to the difficult terrain.

The Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department's Search and Rescue helicopter was used to remove the injured man from the mountain and transfer him to a Paramedic unit on the ground. His injuries were non-life threatening, and he was transported to a local hospital for treatment.
