Building Permit Amnesty Program

For the entire month of May, ending May 31, 2008, the City of Boulder City's Building Department will offer an amnesty program for residents only. This amnesty program will cover improvements that have previously been done to your own, personal residence without inspections or permits.

The fee to have any of these improvements inspected would normally require a double fee as per adopted City ordinance, but during the entire month of May, 2008, the Building Department will waive the double fee and charge only the regular fee.

Projects or items covered under this amnesty program include water heaters, patio covers, room additions, converted garages, and carports – anything that could be done within your house or attached to your house that was done without a permit.

For further information please contact the Building Official, Ron Nybo, personally in the Community Development Department.
